PROFILE

Emmy-nominated filmmaker and expedition leader with thirty years in adventure media. Co-founded Teton Gravity Research in 1996 and ran it as President through 2008, producing and directing 25 award-winning films that helped define adventure filmmaking. Founded OneEyedBird Marketing and Entertainment in 2009 and spent fifteen years directing for Disney, National Geographic, Rolex, Apple, HBO, Red Bull, Samsung, DJI, Land Rover, and the U.S. Department of Defense: feature documentaries, more than 100 episodes of television, and global product launches. Led expeditions on seven continents and 35+ countries, including the science team that installed the world's highest weather station on Everest. Specialist in aircraft logistics and high-altitude aerial operations. Available for contract directing, producing, expedition and aerial production, fully remote pre-production and post, field work anywhere.
